birds: Did you know birds live all over the world, on all seven continents? That's right – in every place imaginable, from cities to fields to the frozen tundra – you'll be able to find a bird. But what is it that makes them different from all other animals on earth? Below are some of birds' main characteristics.

-  Birds are warm-blooded
-  Birds have feathers
-  Birds lay eggs
-  Birds can fly (most of them, at least)
-  Birds have scaly legs and feet
-  Birds have a beak (instead of jaws)
-  Birds have eleven air sacs attached to their lungs
